Chicago, Sept. 25.—(Spl.)—No encouragement is held out by the Mayor to those who wish for a resumption of boxing. OREGON SAFE.

Steamer Drifted Helpless For Ten Days.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 25.—(Spl.)—The steamship Oregon is safe, but its improvised rudder, broken propeller, and 500 careworn passengers tell the story of ten days floundering at the mercy of a gale. The efforts of Captain Zaley and crew were finally rewarded with the construction of an emergency rudder which did its work, and then came a voyage of 1,700 miles at a snail's pace, on short rations. The Oregon sailed from Nome Sept. 6 with a full passenger list and $750,000 in treasure.

A FEATURE

Of the Season's Shows Is the Burgomaster.

Manager T. K. Albaugh, of the Grand, is completing every detail for the coming gala event of wit, beauty and song, announced for Saturday, Sept. 28, on which occasion the big Eastern production of "The Burgomaster" will be presented with all its wealth of popular music, clever sayings, fascinating features, pretty girls, and clever cast, that has been the recipient of unusual press and public prestige throughout the East, where they have been playing for the past eleven months, and which constitutes long and prosperous runs in New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, Pittsburgh, Buffalo and Boston, where they were playing the past summer and from whence they will come here.

This merry melange is a cheering conglomeration of gaiety, girls, music, fun, and although it contains an original score of twenty-four numbers and borders on light opera, nevertheless it admits of many high-class vaudeville features, and is presented by an organization of unusual excellence. In addition to their famous large girlie chorus, said to be an Aladdin dream of youth, grace and loveliness.

The agents of the Pomeroy-Mandelbaum syndicate have had their eye on the Hempstead trolley for a long time and reported to the syndicate every phase of the progress of the work and the opposition to it, and when the time was ripe last week an offer was made for the control of the road and accepted. This will give this wealthy syndicate an entering wedge on Long Island.

ANDERSON

Wants Monument In Cleveland.

Several Plans to Commemorate the Late President.

Judge George Anderson has written to the Cleveland Leader, suggesting that that paper start a fund for the erection of a monument to the late President McKinley, at Cleveland. Judge Anderson's plan is to have the subscriptions limited to $1. from any one person and he believes that a great number of people would be glad to contribute to a fund of this kind. Cleveland is selected because it is the largest city in this part of the State and the monument would be given a great deal more prominence there than it would have anywhere else.

Many other plans have been suggested, both here and in other Ohio cities. Col. L. C. Gibbons suggested at the meeting of the School Board last night that the children of the Akron schools be given a chance to contribute their mites to a fund for a McKinley monument but the matter was not taken up by the Board at that meeting.

QUAINT PLOT

On Which "Burgomaster" Is Built.

Two Dutchmen Brought to Life After Centuries.

It is a quaint conceit that Mr. Frank Pixley has made the basis of the story that is told in the musical comedy, "The Burgomaster," which is announced for an engagement at the Grand Opera house, Saturday night.

Briefly told, the story is of two Dutchmen, Peter Stuyvesant, Whilom, Governor of New Amsterdam, and his secretary, Doodie van Kull, who, having drunk a draught of drugged liquor, intended for the Tammany Indians, are thrown into a sleep that lasts for two hundred and fifty years, and from which they are awakened by a gang of street laborers, who are excavating a sewer.

Returning to consciousness, they find themselves in modern New York, and are taken in hand by a young rouser, Willie van Astorbilt by name, who proceeds to show them the sights in and around the great metropolis and winds up the sight-seeing tour at the World's Fair in Chicago.

From this meagre outline of the story of "The Burgomaster" it is easy to see that it affords abundant opportunities for the dramatist who is skillful enough to avail himself of them. The surprise of the Honest Dutch burghers, in the metropolis that has transformed their sleepy, tranquil village into the great and bustling city, affords a field for the introduction of feature after feature, every one of which finds its counterpart in the New York of today.

But there is more in this show than passes before the eyes of the Dutchmen in the book Mr. Pixley has written. There are bright lines, often-times a clever play of words, funny situations, unexpected turns to the dialogue, and best of all, there is not a syllable that can possibly offend the most fastidious. There is plenty of fun, but it is all clean and sparkling as the water that gushes out from beneath some moss-covered rock by the dusty roadside.

Opinions in Circuit court will be announced Friday.
